SUBJECT: Update on CSU Travel Ban and Clarification on Appropriate Use of Funds

On June 23, 2017, we were informed by the Chancellor's Office that the California Attorney General added four additional states (Texas, Kentucky, South Dakota and Alabama) to the travel prohibition set forth in the state law, California Government Code Section 11139.8. This increases the total number of banned states to the eight listed below:

1. Alabama
2. Kansas
3. Kentucky
4. Mississippi
5. North Carolina
6. South Dakota
7. Tennessee
8. Texas

As you're aware, effective January 1, 2017 the CSU is restricted under California law from requiring its employees to travel to any state that has enacted a law that discriminates on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. In addition, the CSU is prohibited from approving the use of "state funds" for travel to those states. The travel restriction applies to all CSU employees, officers, or members, as well as non-employee travelers, including students.

For purposes of the travel ban, "state funds" are defined as monies that are appropriated by the legislature, either as part of the budget process or continuously appropriated (e.g., tuition and fees). These funds may not be used to pay for travel to the current list of banned states unless the travel falls under one of the following exceptions as noted in Government Code Section 11139.8:

1. Enforcement of California law, including auditing and revenue collection.
2. Litigation.
3. To meet contractual obligations incurred before January 1, 2017.
4. To comply with requests by the federal government to appear before committees.
5. To participate in meetings or training required by a grant or required to maintain grant funding.
6. To complete job-required training necessary to maintain licensure or similar standards required for holding a position, in the event that comparable training cannot be obtained in California or a different state not affected.
7. For the protection of public health, welfare, or safety, as determined by the CSU or other state agencies.
